Course Description: In this course, we will examine wildlife ecology and conservation as a major and career (for majors/minors only).

Course Goal: Our goal for this course is to provide you with the knowledge and skills necessary to successfully navigate the major while at the University, develop career appropriate skills, and explore career options upon completion of your degree program – we want you to think about your education and career!

Course Objectives: The course has several primary objectives related to the course goal.

Specific objectives are for you to:

- 1) Have a place to discuss challenges you face in your education and future career
- 2) Become part of the wildlife ecology & conservation community
- 3) Understand options within the major
- 4) Learn how to successfully complete your degree program
- 5) Develop skills that enhance success in your major and career
- 6) Understand graduate school options and possibilities
- 7) Understand various career options
- 8) Meet with professionals and experience different career paths
- 9) Develop a career path
- 10) Think about your education and career

Prerequisite Courses: None

Recommended Textbook: None required, but Henke and Krausman, “Becoming a Wildlife Professional” is a great resource for wildlife students. <https://www.amazon.com/Becoming-Wildlife-Professional-Scott-Henke/dp/1421423065>.

Course Materials: The course syllabus, lectures, assignments, and readings will be available on the Canvas course website. Materials may require Adobe Acrobat Reader (available free of charge at <http://www.adobe.com/products/acrobat/readstep2.html>), MS Word, and/or MS PowerPoint to access and print.

Privacy and the online format: Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.

Evaluation in this class: You'll find that this class is not challenging and is meant for you to learn more about the major and think about your career goals. Attendance, participation, and assignments are how you are evaluated for your grade. People have failed this class simply for not doing their assignments or not showing up for class.

Grading:	Attendance (see below; at least 7 classes, each worth 15 points)	105 pts
	Participation	35 pts
	Class Assignments (1 @ 10 pts; 8 @ 50 pts each)	410 pts
	Total	550 pts
Grades:	A (≥495 pts; ≥90.0%), B (440-494 pts; 80.0%-89.9%), C (385-439 pts; 70.0%-79.9%), (330-384 pts; 60.0%-69.9%), & E (≤329 pts; ≤59.9%).		D

Grading Policy: If there is a summation error for points on any assignment, see me immediately so I can correct your total score/points. If you believe that an assignment was improperly graded, please bring it to me for reevaluation. In such cases, the entire assignment will be reevaluated, and a new grade assigned for the entire assignment. Please regularly check the grades for attendance & participation and assignments on the course website, and notify me immediately if a grade is incorrectly recorded. Requirements for class attendance & participation and make-up assignments are described below with each section, and are consistent with university policies that can be found at <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>. For information on current UF policies for assigning grade points, see <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>.

Attendance & Participation: In past years, attendance has been mandatory. In these times, this requirement is obviously not so easy. This class is synchronous, but one perk of online is that you can access information and recorded lectures at any time. Unfortunately, the in-class discussions with me and/or guest speakers won't be as easy to make up. Let's set a minimum of 7 classes (not counting the first class) that you should be physically logged in and present for. Each one of those 7 classes is worth 15 points (105 in total). Participation in any classes you attend means you interact with the speakers in the breakout rooms via chat or by speaking. Approved/excused absences are arranged before the absence and you have a note from a medical doctor or an appropriate University official. Also, please do reach out to me if you are having challenges with attending or participating in class.

Class Assignments: You will have 9 assignments related to topics in class. These assignments are designed to get you thinking about the wildlife program and educational requirements, qualifications, typical responsibilities and duties, and other aspects of pursuing various program-related careers. Your assignments can be uploaded at the course website at <https://elearning.ufl.edu/>. Any information source (e.g., class notes, internet, and library) may be used to develop responses, but you must work alone. Late responses will lose 20 points for each day they are late unless associated with an approved absence (see above).

Class Demeanor: We'll be online, so please be professional in all facets of this course. Disruptive or rude behavior will not be tolerated. Please be respectful and mute your phones, and don't talk on phones or to other students in the class when it is not part of a class-related discussion. Be mindful of sound at your locations, and make sure to mute yourself unless you are speaking. The instructor reserves the right to remove anyone from the class if they do not conduct themselves in a professional manner. If you are removed from the class, you will not receive any credit associated with it. We consider texting, talking while others are speaking, surfing the web on handheld devices, mocking other students, and inappropriate comments all grounds for dismissal from class.

Services for Students with Disabilities: Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. The Disability Resource Center coordinates the needed accommodations of students with disabilities. This includes registering disabilities, recommending academic accommodations within the classroom, accessing special adaptive computer equipment, providing interpretation services, and mediating faculty-student disability related issues. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Plagiarism: As commonly defined, plagiarism consists of passing off as one's own the ideas, words, writing etc., which belong to another. As per UF Honor Code (see Academic Honesty below): A student shall not represent as the student's own work all or any portion of the work of another. Plagiarism includes but is not limited to: 1. Quoting oral or written materials including but not limited to those found on the internet, whether published or unpublished, without proper attribution. 2. Submitting a document or assignment which in whole or in part is identical or substantially identical to a document or assignment not authored by the student. Canvas has some handy applications for faculty to determine whether plagiarism has occurred. Plagiarism is one of the worst academic sins, for the plagiarist destroys the trust among colleagues without which research cannot be safely communicated. Plagiarism will not be tolerated in this course. Offenders of this policy will be punished according to University policies.

Academic Honesty: You are expected to become familiar with and follow current University Policy (see <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/scer/process/student-conduct-honor-code/>). In addition, there will be no cheating of any type tolerated in this course.

Course evaluation: As a student, you are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in all the courses you take, including this one. We, as instructors, can't improve our teaching or know what we did right unless you tell us. These evaluations are conducted online via GatorEvals. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via ufl.bluera.com/ufl/. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students here: <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

Campus Helping Resources: Students experiencing crises or personal problems that interfere with their general well-being are encouraged to utilize the university's counseling resources. The Counseling & Wellness Center provides confidential counseling services at no cost for currently enrolled students. Resources are available on campus for students having personal problems or lacking clear career or academic goals, which interfere with their academic performance.
